How to apply for VSAC-assisted scholarships

Applying for the VSAC-assisted scholarships on pages 9–34 is easy if you follow the steps outlined below.

Step 1: Determine whether you are eligible to apply.

You must be a Vermont resident and United States citizen or an eligible non-citizen to apply for scholarships (unless a particular scholarship specifies otherwise).

- If you are not sure you are a Vermont resident, request a copy of VSAC’s residency brochure or call the VSAC Scholarships Program.
- If you are not sure about your citizenship or your status as an eligible noncitizen, refer to the guidelines at <https://fafsa.ed.gov/help/fotw14aF4c.htm>.
- United States military personnel must have Vermont listed as their “home of record.”

Step 2: Identify scholarships for which you are eligible to apply.

- Refer to page 1 to understand the scholarship eligibility requirements in the black toolbars.
- Review the scholarship descriptions on pages 9–34.
- If you meet all the eligibility criteria in the black toolbar AND under “Eligibility,” you are eligible.
- Make note of the VSAC ID for each scholarship you want to apply for; you will need to enter this VSAC ID on the Unified Scholarship Application (USA).

Step 3: Complete the online Unified Scholarship Application (USA), required for all VSAC-assisted scholarships in this booklet.

- Go to www.vvac.org after January 1, 2017. Click on the orange myVSAC/Account Access button in the top right corner of the home page.

Step 5: File the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) online.

Scholarships that list financial need in their criteria require completion of the FAFSA.

Scholarship essays

- The general essay is required for all VSAC-assisted scholarships in this booklet and must include all four focus areas below.

Scholarship descriptions sometimes ask you to include specific information in your general essay; be sure to read each scholarship description carefully to ensure that you provide the information requested.

- The scholarship-specific essay is required only if you are applying for the SAMARA scholarship.
- Each essay must be written by the applicant and be labeled like the sample provided on the right.
- Unlabeled essays will prevent you from being considered for one or more scholarships.

The format of our essays is not traditional; however, scholarship committees find it useful to have each focus area broken out.

These essays are your opportunity to speak directly to the scholarship committee(s). Responses should be concise, but should reflect your style and personality.

Beware of scams

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) warns students to be careful in using scholarship search companies. While some firms are legitimate, others aren't. A tip-off could be if the firm “guarantees” or “promises” scholarships or grants. No reputable firm can legitimately make such a claim.

Beware of these telltale statements:

“This scholarship is guaranteed or your money back.”

“You can't get this information anywhere else.”

“We'll need your credit card or bank account number to hold this scholarship.”

“We'll do all the work for you!”

“There's a fee to apply for this scholarship.”

“You've been selected by a national foundation to receive a scholarship.”

“You're a finalist ...” (in a contest you never entered)

Deadlines are critical.

Submit all documents required for each particular scholarship BEFORE the deadline for that scholarship. ONE late document may mean a late application that is not considered by a scholarship committee.

The Vermont Student Assistance Corporation (VSAC) publishes this booklet to provide you with information about specific scholarships available to Vermont residents. Most of the scholarships listed are sponsored by private groups, including Vermont businesses, charitable or service organizations, veterans groups, and others.

The majority of financial aid available to Vermont students is provided by your college, university, or training school, the federal government, and VSAC. Scholarships are considered supplements to other aid, such as grants and loans.

Scholarships, like grants, are forms of “gift aid,” meaning there is no obligation (under most circumstances) to repay the funds. While grants are generally awarded according to financial need, scholarships are typically based on factors unique to each scholarship. These may include residency, degree program or major, academic achievement, extracurricular activities, and — in some cases — financial need.

Remember that when you apply for scholarships, you will be competing against other students who apply. Keep in mind, though, that if a scholarship is based on academic achievement, you may not have to be the best student in your class; you simply need to be the best student applying for that scholarship. Similarly, if a scholarship is based on financial need, your need will be compared only to the need of other applicants within that scholarship pool.
